

ATELIER TOBIA ZAMBOTTI

Specialising in avant-garde interiors, Atelier Tobia Zambotti is a multidisciplinary design studio based in Reykjavik, Iceland. The studio takes a modern and progressive approach to design, with its goal to "Tell meaningful stories through sustainable, bold and Instagrammable projects." Working with a wide range of international creatives, spanning from architects to engineers and photographers to artisans, they focus on the issues which are important to them - the need to act in a sustainable and environmentally responsible way.

One of their recent designs, 'The Fan Chair' makes sustainability and circular design its priority. The collection gives new life to discarded plastic seats from Reykjavik's KR team football stadium. Originally designed in the 1980s, the reclaimed chairs feature bold colours with a playful feeling, and are available in three colour variations. Reflecting a bold visual presence, whilst acting as a useful and practical object designed for everyday use, they are the perfect home addition for any football, or non-football fan, for that matter.

